

AEMA CERTIFIED The Athletic Equipment Managers Association (AEMA) offers its members the opportunity to achieve the "Certified" status of membership by successfully passing their Certification Exam, given each June at their National Convention. This professionally validated achievement has been awarded since 1991. AEMA certification is required by the NFL, most major colleges, and many other governing sports bodies across the United States, Canada, and Japan. Certified members are required to maintain their status by completing Continuing Education Unit credits every three years. The goal of the AEMA is to encourage the advancement and improvement of safety in every sport and recreational activity and to assist with educating those involved in these endeavors. More information and the requirements to sit for the exam are available at www.equipmentmanagers.org.

The AEMA and Football Green Book have created an alliance to provide National recognition for the benefits and opportunities for its membership and their respective programs.
